Declining Trend Tapers Off, Says Security Bank

Despite declining trends in certain sectors of the economy, there was evidence of firmness in may of the Southland's economic indicators during January, J. J. Weigel, manager of Security First National Bank's Torrance branch, reported today.

After a moderate decline in December, the bank's index of business activity in Southern California moved fractionally upward in January and at 214.8 (preliminary), the index was 2/10 of 1% above the December figure and 1.6% over the year-ago level, Weigel said.

Components of the index registering gains over their December level included each of the bank debit series, valuation of building permits issued, engineering contracts awarded, number of real estate deeds recorded, and motion picture industry employment.

Employment in most areas of the Southland declined in January. However, in nearly all instances, the declines were less than usual for the December-to-January period, the airport noted.

In the Los Angeles-Long Beach Metropolitan area seasonally adjusted employment increased to a new all-time high. In the San Bernardino-Riverside area the adjusted figure for January was at the highest level since September, 1960, and at a near-record level.

Employment in San Diego area, on an adjusted basis, was at the highest level on record—exceeding the previous peak which occurred in November, 1959.

Serra Holds Science Fair

The first Science Fair in the history of the school will be held at Junipero Serra High School, 14830 St. Van Ness Ave., on Monday evening, March 6th, from 8 to 10. "The purpose of this event is to stimulate the interest of the students, to demonstrate the importance of science in our everyday life, and to provide an evening of entertainment," stated Bro. James McGloin, faculty adviser.

The demonstrations held on the stage of the Serra gym will bring forward the three basic aspects of science—biology, chemistry and physics.

Letters

Dear Sirs,
I am sure proud of Torrance and feel it is a privilege to live in a town where the tax money goes to such good purposes.

Like, I know Torrance is expanding a great deal so we need new schools. This one to be built on Hickory Avenue sure sounds big in the article in the paper—I mean big! WOW! a half-million dollars . . . about 30,000 per room. . . .

I am also happy to share as a tax-payer in the expense of the pamphlets Junior brought home from school. "How POOR Torrance is," it said. Just think, if it wasn't for those pamphlets, the big, new over-ride might have been voted down. Wouldn't that have been shameful!

Supervisors Urge Harbor Freeway Center Strip Safety Barriers

On motion of Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, the Board of Supervisors this week instructed its clerk, Gordon Nesvig, to inform Governor Edmond G. Brown of the imperative need for immediate construction of center strip safety barriers on the Harbor freeway and other freeways in the Los Angeles County metropolitan area.

The Board of Supervisors also re-affirmed the need for emergency telephones on the freeways and urged the Governor to take steps to have the median barriers and the telephones installed on the freeways at the earliest possible date.

In calling for the median safety barriers to be installed immediately on the Harbor freeway between the interchange and 124th street, Supervisor Hahn pointed out that it is the world's busiest highway, with a daily average traffic load of 200,000 cars and trucks.

PREVENT CRASH

He said that he had personally observed several instances where the barrier fences, had prevented cars out of control from crossing the center strip and crashing head-on into cars going the opposite direction.

Just last weekend three persons were killed and three seriously injured near the Santa Barbara turnoff of the Harbor freeway (where there are no barriers) when a car went out of control and crashed head-on into another car after crossing the center barrier.

Supervisor Hahn has also requested E. T. Telford, Assistant State Highway Engineer, to provide a progress report on installation of the barriers. Last November, Telford advised Supervisor Hahn that bids for construction of the barriers would be called for "early in 1961."
